Hospice support

KEECH Hospice Care is giving its support to Tiny Tim's Hospice to create a new facility - the Malubua Hospice - in Lusaka, Zambia.

Team members (above) from Keech left on Friday for the once-in-a-lifetime trip, which is being held to help the hospice get off the ground and will last until Sunday.

The trip includes the team from Keech Hospice Care, based in Great Bramingham Lane, Streatley, helping to finish the building work as well as caring staff collaborating to see how they can offer the highest quality palliative care.

The team of nine includes a mixture of people such as staff and nurses from the hospice as well as members of the community.

All members have been fundraising to take part in the challenge and have managed to raise a staggering £23,000 so far.

Heading out through the beautiful wilderness of the Zambezi National Park, the team will spend almost four days canoeing along the river and camping each night under the vast African skies.

The road to greener transport is unveiled

SOUTH West Bedfordshire MP Andrew Selous was present at the unveiling of Dunstable's first electric vehicle charging point in the car park behind Go Bowling in Dunstable.

The new Vauxhall Ampera and Nissan Leaf, two new electric cars, were on hand at the facility in the Grove Theatre Car Park, in Court Drive, on Thursday along with Cllr Nigel Young and Cllr Ann Sparrow, to show residents what the future of motoring will look like.

There will be 1,200 of these new charging points in the East of England by March 2013 and on some vehicles it is possible to get an 80 per cent recharge in half an hour.

Mr Selous said: "I am delighted that Dunstable is getting ready for a key industry of the future. Petrol and diesel prices remain high and the cost of electric vehicles will fall over the next few years."

The point is one of the first in the area to be included in the Source East Electric Vehicle Recharging Network.

Central Bedfordshire Council has worked with Source East, managed by EValu8 Transport Innovations Ltd, to install the point and introduce electric vehicles as part of its 'commitment to enhance sustainable transport'.

Tory party's finances put before cash for charities

BY KATHRYN CAIN
editor@lutononsunday.co.uk

TERMINALLY ill children in hospice care will not benefit from the proceeds of Tory grandees' fundraisers in the future.

At a meeting of the Mid-Bedfordshire Conservative Association on Thursday night, members were unhappy that the group had split the £2,500 proceeds of a recent event for Keech Hospice, based in Great Bramingham Lane, Streatley, with the charity while they were financially 'in the red'.

The hospice cares for adults living in Luton and South Bedfordshire and children from across Bedfordshire, and its 'aim is to help patients enjoy the highest quality of life, while providing vital support for their family and friends throughout their loved one's illness and in their bereavement'.

Members of the Conservative Association voted to no longer give some of the cash raised to charitable organisations until they balance their books.

Luton on Sunday understands that three functions were previously held by the Conservatives, including a recent function at Eversholt Village Hall attended by more than 150 people at £35 a ticket, where the money raised was split evenly between the Association and the Hospice, which is Mid-Bedfordshire MP Nadine Dorries' chosen charity.

When the event was discussed by members of the group last week, some raised issues with having to share the money with the charity and it was decided that the group would not share the cash at any more events until they had more money.

An anonymous source said: "It is very disappointing if it is true."

"David Cameron's key theme for government is the Big Society and associations have been implored to get involved with the voluntary and charitable sector.

"Unfortunately if this decision has been taken it evokes themes of a nasty party which I sincerely hope isn't the case."

Deputy chairman of the Association, Central Bedfordshire Councillor Budge Wells, said: "At the meeting of our group on Thursday we discussed the accounts for the year to the current date which showed we were going to make a considerable loss on running the Mid-Beds constituency this year.

"While in the past we have been very happy to share our proceeds from events with charities, we felt that until we get ourselves back in the black, we have got to make as much money as possible just to run our constituency office.

"I will not say who voted for or against it but we all discussed the matter and when it came to a vote it was decided that although we are not going to stop sharing the proceeds indefinitely, until we can break even on running costs it is not possible to keep doing it as we have been for many years."

Google will come to the aid of 'lost' passengers

BY LUI STRACCIA

lui.straccia@lutononsunday.co.uk

AN INTERNAL plan of Luton Airport is now available on Google Maps - to stop 'bewildered' passengers getting lost.

It is the first UK airport to be displayed on Google's database, so expect to see holidaymakers with their heads down following their mobile device around the building.

The Google Indoor Maps facility was unveiled on Wednesday, and it is available on Android devices at 40 UK venues including Wembley, the O2 Arena and Selfridges.

The technology includes a 'where am I?' feature as well as showing what's around and providing directions. Website users will also be able to search for the nearest bathroom, coffee shop, or airport gate.

Any building owner can upload their internal blueprints for future inclusion in the technology.

According to the airport's website, 'Google Maps already allows you to plan a route, get directions and explore many neighbourhoods with street-level imagery, while the 'My location' feature can show you where you are on a map to stop you getting lost.'

Oliver Jaycock, London Luton Airport's marketing manager, said: 'Airports present a unique and inherently complex environment which passengers must navigate.'

'The challenge for airports is making this process for passengers easy.'

'Partnering with Google to map every square inch of London Luton Airport's terminal building means passengers, for the first time at any UK airport can use Google's indoor maps to guide their own way effortlessly through the terminal.'

An airport spokesman added: 'People could get bewildered if they have not been at the airport before.'

'It's there to improve the passenger experience.'

newsbriefs

PLANE INVESTIGATION

AN investigation is underway following an emergency landing by an Aer Lingus aircraft at Luton Airport.

The plane had to return to the airport minutes after experiencing 'technical issues shortly after take-off' on June 26.

A spokesman for the airline said: 'An investigation into the incident is underway and as a result I cannot comment any further.'

The Irish Aviation Authority has also confirmed that it's looking into the case.

BUILDING FIRE

FIRE crews were called out to tackle a blaze at a derelict warehouse.

Two fire engines from Luton and an emergency rescue unit from Stotfold attended the blaze at the single storey building in Mulberry Close, Luton, just after 6pm on Wednesday.

Bedfordshire and Luton Fire and Rescue Service said there is a possibility the roof suffered from five per cent asbestos fire damage.

TIME TO HELP OUT CENTRAL

Bedfordshire Council is setting up a new 'Time Bank' initiative that will enable residents to trade skills and experience.

The programme aims to reward local people for helping others.

Cllr Carole Hegley, executive member for social care, health and housing, said: 'We want to explore the potential for developing Time Banks as another way of encouraging local people to get involved with their local communities.'

CID go back to the start

BEDFORDSHIRE Police's Criminal Investigations Department (CID) will move from Dunstable to Luton - nine months after it was switched in the other direction.

The force's CID went to Dunstable Station, in West Street, as part of a £4,000 restructuring move in October 2011.

A force spokesman said: 'It has been agreed that the crime hub for the south will be better at Luton as, among other things, the cell facilities have greater capacity.'

The costs of moving are pretty minimal, as Bedfordshire Police own both buildings which are three miles apart.

'When the CID department leave, other units and departments from elsewhere will take the space.'

In May, Luton on Sunday reported Dunstable Station may close as part of an ongoing review of the force's buildings.

The spokesman added: 'Dunstable Station is not for sale now and there are absolutely no plans to sell it.'

THE police authority has agreed to work on a 'plan B' as an alternative to the privatisation of all back office staff.

Last week Bedfordshire Police Authority looked at building a case to outsource many of its functions to G4S, a global security company.

Many members felt an alternative ought to be more seriously considered, particularly as the final decision will rest with an incoming Police Commissioner, who may want to look at more than one option.

The outsourcing is favoured by both Cambridgeshire and Hertfordshire, the two forces who collaborate with Bedfordshire on many services.

A Bedfordshire Police spokesman said: 'After the three Police Authority resolutions last week, chief officers from the three forces met to discuss the best way to progress this work.

'The alternative proposal to outsourcing cannot involve the three-force strategic alliance as Hertfordshire Police Authority have made a resolution to only progress with the full business case for outsourcing at this stage.

'The outsourcing model was one of four options originally considered and the further option asked for by the Bedfordshire Police Authority last week will be an alternative proposal taking into account the best interests of Bedfordshire.'

'In Bedfordshire, Asst Chief Cons Kath Govier (pictured) will oversee this piece of work, which will be led by Parjinder Basra the director of Corporate Business Support. Mr Basra is already involved with the on-going work to continually review where the force can save money and will now use his existing team, along with full involvement of staff, to look at an alternative proposal. The team are reporting directly to the Chief Constable.'

Ben's work in Iraq aims to show humanity message

BY LUI STRACCIA

lui.straccia@lutononsunday.co.uk

AN ARTIST has painted a 'Peace for Luton' message on a mountain in Iraq.

Ben Hodson, from Luton, travelled to the Middle East country with the sole intention of creating the symbol.

The 26-year-old, with the help of Iraqi artists including internationally renowned Ismail Khayat, literally painted the side of a mountain on the site of a dramatic peace project on the turn of the millennium.

Ben said: "When Ismail initionally did the project it was about bringing peace to two opposing Kurdish factions in the north of the country.

"It appears that his intervention as an artist kicked off the peace process and he is widely credited with being instrumental in bringing the two opposing sides together."

During the trip Ben exhibited a solo exhibition of artwork that was made in Luton. Ben added: "I am passionate about showing the beauty and common humanity in every culture. Ours is no different.

"As we have displayed at number of Iraqi exhibitions in England and Wales, it is great to show British people and culture to the Iraqi people themselves."

Ben was joined in his Iraq effort by 49-year-old storyteller Ian Rowlands. Together they also put together a film on 'how creativity and people can help to bring about positive change, even in the most difficult of situations'.

Zimbabwean man 'fathered daughter's child'

POLICE have said they are investigating 'a complaint in relation to a sexual offence' after internet reports surfaced that a Zimbabwean fled the UK after impregnating his daughter.

The story, which appeared on the Zimbabwe Mail website, alleges that the man, who lived in Luton, left the country a few days before his daughter was due to give birth because whistleblowers had alerted the authorities.

It also says the girl was taken by the UK social services who gave her a place to stay with her newly delivered baby boy.

Bedfordshire Police confirmed they have been alerted to the matter but could not comment further as 'inquiry is ongoing and therefore it would not be appropriate to comment further'.

They also said they were working with various partners on this case.

A Luton Borough Council spokesman said: "An alleged incident like this would be subject to a police investigation so it would be inappropriate for us to comment."

Union slams 'perk' of retention cash

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

UNIONS have slammed council proposals to continue paying workers in 'hard-to-fill' jobs a recruitment and retention allowance for another 12 months - when lower paid workers haven't been paid a £250 bonus approved by the Chancellor.

In November, Luton on Sunday reported that Luton Borough Council had given around £744,000 in Recruitment and Retention allowances to 259 employees - and on average, one in ten staff received £2,873.

The payments were made to those in posts that might be proven to be difficult to recruit to or in a position where there is a national shortage.

Jimmy Cummings, a senior representative for the union Unite, criticised the payments while lower paid staff weren't getting bonuses.

He said: "It is morally wrong to continue to make extra payments to those employed in higher grades, when the £250 a year pay rise for lower grade, as approved by the chancellor George Osborne has not been paid to Luton Borough Council workers."

"People are struggling on the lower pay grades and the £250 would be of great benefit to them."

"We can't continue to have this kind of perk while people are being thrown out of their jobs, and there is no shred of evidence that would support the continuation of payments being made as they are currently."

"The unions will have to campaign publicly if this report is approved."

A decision on the Luton proposals is expected at a council meeting on Thursday.

A Luton Borough Council spokesman said: "The matter will be considered very carefully at Administration Committee on Thursday, so it would be inappropriate for us to comment until after the meeting."

A Treasury spokesperson said: "Local government pay remains a matter for negotiation and agreement between employers and unions. But we have made clear that we expect local government to show restraint on pay in line with the rest of the public sector as well as seeking to provide the lower paid with some protection from the impact of pay restraint."

Authority finishes year in profit

CUTS have seen Central Bedfordshire Council end the tax year half a million pounds in the black.

Spending at the council hit targets for spending and performance in 2011/12, despite a difficult economic climate in which it suffered from grant reductions and financial pressures.

Work by the Community Safety Partnership led to theft and robbery falling by 13 per cent, while the affordable housing target was also beaten with 440 new homes created. More council tax was collected (almost 98 per cent) than last year, while there was also faster processing of benefit claims, paying suppliers on time and assessing the care needs of children, adults and their families.

Council leader James Jamieson (pictured) said: "While recognising that there is still further to go, I'm delighted that there is a steady improvement in performance."

"We are in a good position to respond to the challenges ahead and continue on our improvement journey."

Governors needed to join mental health group

AN NHS mental health trust is looking for governors to act as its ambassadors.

South Essex Partnership University NHS Foundation Trust (SEPT) is recruiting for public governors to become the 'voice of the community' in Luton, Central Bedfordshire and Bedford.

People in those roles have the responsibility of helping to develop a strategy of mental health, learning disability, social care and community services and to hold the board of directors to account for the delivery of these health services.

They are responsible for representing and reporting back to the membership. Governors are also responsible for important duties such as appointing and remunerating the chairman and some directors.

Elections are the chance for members to vote for the people they would like to see serving the Trust as a governor in their constituency. It is also an opportunity for members to think about standing as a governor.

Nomination forms will be available from tomorrow and need to be completed and returned to the Electoral Reform Services by no later than August 6.

More information on the roles and application process can be obtained from SEPT's Trust Secretary Office on 0800 023 2059 or by emailing membership@sept.nhs.uk

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) is deciding whether charges should be brought in the case of an elderly dementia sufferer who was left on a council minibus for 14 hours.

Bedfordshire Police have finished their investigation into the incident in which a woman, who is in her 80s, was left on the bus overnight on April 30 at Luton Borough Council's Kingsway depot and was only discovered at 7am the following day by a driver, having been alone there for 14 hours. She should have been taken to her flat at Jill Jenkins Court extra care home in Whipsnade Ring, Luton, after attending Hockwell Ring Day Centre.

The driver of the minibus was 'suspended without prejudice' the same day and an internal investigation was immediately launched, after council chief executive Trevor Holden promised that 'action will be taken'.

The police have now passed the file to the CPS. A CPS spokesman said: 'We understand that the file has been sent from Bedfordshire Police in the last couple of days.'

'Once we have received it we will review it to consider whether any criminal charges should be brought.' A spokesman for Bedfordshire Police said: 'Our investigation is complete and all information has been passed to the CPS for a decision on whether a charge will be made.'

A council spokesman said: 'The police investigation needs to be completed before internal investigations can conclude.'

'The adult safeguarding board will examine the reports from all the agencies involved including the police and co-ordinate recommendations.'

'It is impossible to judge how long this will take and will largely depend on how the investigations go.'

Uni helps transplant organisation

A UNIVERSITY of Bedfordshire academic has joined a new national transplant group tasked with changing attitudes to organ donation and transplantation among ethnic minority communities.

Professor Gurch Randhawa has joined the Black, Asian and Minority Ethnic (BAME) Transplant Alliance, which was launched on Wednesday by Health Minister Anne Milton.

The Alliance, set up by the Department of Health, hopes to change attitudes to donation and transplantation within BAME communities, from which every year 180 people die waiting for a transplant because of a chronic shortage of suitable organs.

Professor Randhawa (pictured) said: 'I'm absolutely delighted to be part of this transplant alliance that is going to be promoting organ donation among different communities.'

One in ten jobs go at authority

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

THERE have been 975 job losses at Luton Borough Council over the last two years - equating to more than one in ten staff.

The figures, which come from the latest public sector employment survey from the Office of National Statistics (ONS), leave Luton seventh highest in the job losses league for the East of England.

The council had 9,591 employees including teachers and teaching staff during the first three months of 2010, compared to 8,616 during the same period in 2012 - a 10.2 per cent reduction.

GMB regional secretary Paul Hayes said: "What lies behind these statistics is the cold hard fact that this Government has destroyed 30,300 local authority jobs in the East of England.

"In the UK as a whole 424,000 jobs have been lost in the public sector of which a total of 236,900 have been lost in local councils in England and Wales.

"The Government's role is to deliver an economy which grows employment and living standards. Perhaps someone should take a note around to Number Eleven Downing Street to explain this to the Chancellor."

A council spokesman said: "These are tough financial times and we've had to make tough decisions to achieve a balanced budget and protect key services for local people, particularly with the massive budget cuts imposed on us by Central Government.

"But if you look at percentages of staff rather than numbers, which provides a more realistic picture overall, Luton has only lost ten per cent of its original workforce of which only 315 have been redundancies (and still balanced the books despite a 20 per cent drop in budget), unlike other authorities who have made massive cuts including Central Beds who have lost almost 30 per cent of their staff or Welwyn and Hatfield who have lost around 46 per cent.

"In the last two years Luton Borough Council has already made huge changes to become more efficient, saving around £35m. But we now have to find almost another £28m.

"This means by 2016 the council will have had to save more than £60m in five years - and operate with around 30 per cent less than we received in 2010/11."

Sue takes award for work at museum

A VOLUNTEER at Luton's Wardown Park Museum has won a national prize for her dedication and service.

Marsh Trust National Awards for Volunteers awarded Sue Clark the award at a ceremony held at the British Museum on Monday.

Over the past five years, Mrs Clark has been heavily involved in new developments, exhibitions and projects at the museum.

She initiated research into the history of the museum's collections, finding fascinating links between museum artefacts from the 1800s and family histories.

Her research into Wardown Park Museum's sampler collections also led to her making discoveries of links with items at other UK museums.

Wardown Park Museum specialises in historical artefacts and works of traditional craft in Luton.

It features a collection of 700 hats that exhibit a slice of Luton's industrial heritage.

Issue will hit our pockets

SIR - Steve Lowe's warning about the potential consequences of privatising police back office functions could not be more timely.

As Beds CC (RIP) Unison Branch Secretary at the time of the so-called 'partnership programme', we witnessed the worst performing county council in the country get worse.

For deeply ideological reasons they pursued 'partnerships' which cost all Bedfordshire residents dear.

I well remember the occasion when a certain company took over the payroll and we had members coming to us because they had either been paid a tenth of their salary, or ten times too much.

Or the consequences of another cleaning company taking over school meals - yes they saved the council £1million but at a cost to our children with more than a third less being spent on meals (incidentally, when the payroll issue was raised in the council chamber I got a visit from the head of HR telling me that if I ever embarrassed the council leader like that again Unison would lose our facilities agreement. I responded that if he wanted to see me do embarrassing he had seen nothing yet).

In both these cases companies hid behind 'commercial confidentiality' and as Steve points out, neither were subject to FOIs.

But what topped both these cases was the 'partnership' with HBS - a disaster which we in Unison tried to avert with the publication of 'Failing Best Value', our report which raised all the concerns that the ideologically driven county council chose to ignore.

The result was a disaster which cost us all dear - how much is impossible to say since of course, we were not allowed to know.

So, we allow G4S to gobble up yet more of the public sector - resulting in worse terms and conditions for staff (which we all pay for when people are paid so poorly they have to rely on the benefits system), and the priority being making more profit for their shareholders rather than serving the people of Bedfordshire.

Money that will leave the area rather than stay and help the local economy. This is an issue that impacts not just on the delivery of an effective police force - but an issue that ultimately will hit all our pockets.

'No excuses' for Barclays

SIR - There are no words strong enough to express my outrage at the kid glove response of the FSA to the massive fraud that Barclays bank has just been forced to admit to.

They have been handed a piffling fine of £290million - roughly equivalent to about 30 minutes' earnings I guess - and their chief executives have cynically given up their bonuses for this year. Big deal.

No, Mr Diamond, you and your cronies have been gambling with other people's money (yet again) and have been caught playing with loaded dice.

Your bank has been lying and

'Two centres would complement each other'

SIR - Cllr Simmons, I ask again; where is the sense in closing the valuable amenity that is Luton Regional Sports Centre?

Closed and left standing, it will create a security issue and considerable expense; demolition will cost you over £2 million, maybe more.

Moving to Petanque Court will cost thousands, building new changing rooms to service the outside pitches and tennis courts will cost thousands.

In May 2011 you wrote to me saying new Inspire: Luton Sports Village facilities 'will adequately provide enough facilities in Luton'. Well, guess what?

We have a shortage. At least three activities are being lost from the area and roller-skating lessons maybe lost from the borough altogether even though the new sports hall floors are specified suitable for roller activity.

Common sense suggests that the two sports centres could not only remain open together but would actually complement each other.

Besides the excellent new wet-side amenities, you have a 100 station gym in the new centre which could be complemented by a weight-lifting and body-building club in the old centre.

The new centre can take the lead

with Active Luton public participation programmes and provide exclusively for badminton while the old centre provides for established bookings only, such as the many football clubs.

This would mean Active Luton staff might need to spend less time putting up nets and taking them down again.

Squash, table tennis and roller-skating could continue in the old centre, as could the climbing wall. There would be no revenue lost at the new centre to concern yourself with, no direct competition to worry about and you would not need to concern yourself with the maintenance of the old place at all.

All you would need to do is sign it over as an 'asset transfer' to a voluntary body set up to manage it as a club based centre and even this legislative matter could be helped along by Sport England because the transfer of assets such as valuable community sports facilities is government policy (introduced by the previous government).

Malcom Chapman
Angotts Mead, Stevenage

cheating on a monumental scale. In the world that we mere mortals inhabit the punishment for serious fraud justly results in very heavy fines and/or significant prison sentences. Remember crooked financier Bernard Madoff? He's currently serving 110 years.

The pathetic excuse offered by the FSA for their extreme leniency to Barclays is that 'they co-operated fully with the investigations'. Yes, but only after they'd been caught with their trousers down.

Is this how our criminal justice system works now? Can you imagine a serial burglar or gold bullion robber being let off with a slapped wrist because he owned up - after he'd been caught?

The self-appointed 'Lords of the Universe' have been exposed yet again for what they truly are: ruthless, greedy, arrogant, overpaid, and totally without morals and scruples.

Smiles from royalty

SIR - I remember the day the Queen opened Luton Library very well. My daughter was in the children's hospital very ill and my only aim was to get to the hospital to see her.

My father drove me but we were stopped by the police in Whitehill Avenue and could drive no further. I walked to the end of the road only to be stopped again by a policeman in London Road.

I asked why, and he said the Royal cars were coming. I stood with the policeman and the Queen and Prince Phillip gave us a wave. What was a worrying time was highlighted by a personal wave from their Majestys. I have never forgotten their smiles.

Pub experiences needed

SIR - Everyone appreciates the importance of the local pub in the life of the community, and everyone knows that running a pub is very hard work at the best of times.

So I'm glad of the opportunity to tell your readers about a new opportunity for pub managers who find that the way regulations are enforced is making their lives difficult or who have had really good advice from regulators and wish others could learn from it.

The recently launched Pubs theme on the Focus on Enforcement gives hard-working pub managers the chance to speak out against uncaring officialdom - and also to give credit where credit is due if someone has been really helpful.

The Government wants anyone involved in running a pub to feed in their experiences, good and bad, of dealing with local authorities and other regulators as part of the Focus on Enforcement campaign.

I urge all readers who run pubs to go to the Focus on Enforcement website and let us know your views so that we can consider and take any necessary action. This is your chance to make a real difference to the way regulations are enforced in your area.

Back to the dark ages

SIR - The council needs my thoughts on cost-cutting, so they want me to tell them how to do their job.

Cost-cutting will take us back to the dark ages, and will not be very popular.

The council wants to shirk their responsibilities, and blame us for any hated cuts that don't go down well.

I don't think the council should make any cuts at all.

I believe that progress is the way forward. We are going backwards, and we don't want that.

While we are at it, why don't we re-enact the Second World War? Then start again.

Road fightback

■ Central Bedfordshire Council's proposals make neither social nor economic sense.

Detailed questions that have been put to the council have not elicited any meaningful response.

Thus far, the council has proved oblivious to or dismissive of the passionate views held by its electorate in this area. Sadly, the likelihood of its consultation having no aim other than to give the erroneous impression of having considered contrary views is frighteningly strong. D M Denyer

■ Shut up the nimbys... the road plan is about more than a few people who assume they will be blighted and see a reduction in their property prices. nimby

Families back appeal for

KEECH Hospice Care has reached the grand old age of 21.

To coincide with the landmark birthday, the charity is calling on people in the community to make a small donation to enable the care and support they provide to continue.

The 'Special to us appeal' has been created to remind everyone that each and every person who comes to the hospice is unique and deserves the most appropriate and efficient treatment.

One couple championing the campaign are Danny Kerr, 27, and his wife Samantha Charles-Kerr, 26, who made the heart-breaking decision to move their daughter Lexi Deborah Kira Charles-Kerr to Keech when she was just 14 days old.

Lexi was desperately ill from the day she was born in September 2011, and her parents had been warned that she would not make the night.

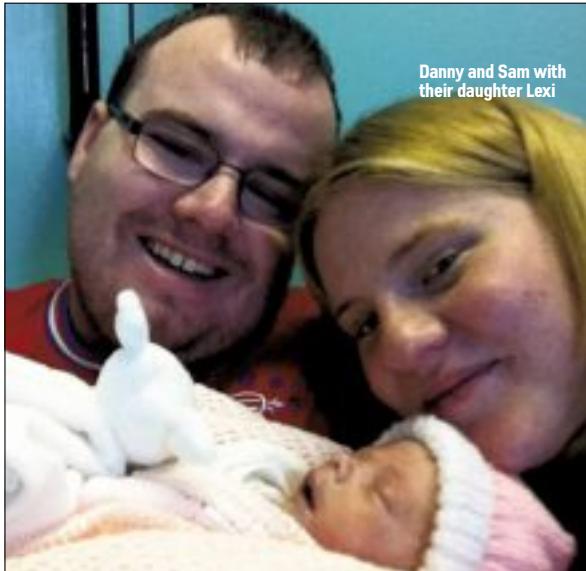

She fought on, surviving day after day, but although Lexi became stronger the doctors at Luton & Dunstable Hospital told the couple to expect the worst.

It was at this point that Danny and Sam were given the opportunity to take Lexi to Keech.

Danny said: "It was something we were worried about, a hospice is somewhere that people go to live out their last days, and of course we wanted our daughter to live.

"Before our first visit Samantha was in tears in the car park, but by the time we had been shown ister her medication. We were able to stay with Lexi in a room above hers so it felt like being at home, and all our family and friends were able to visit us at any time."

Danny, who is a huge Rangers football fan, spoke of one day that was particularly special to him.

He said: "Knowing that Lexi was going to die it was really important to me that I was able to share my passion for football with her."

Rangers were playing Celtic, and the nurses at Keech arranged it so that Lexi was able to be in the front room with me while the game was on.

"I'm so glad I got to see one game with my little girl, and that wouldn't have been possible otherwise."

Tragically after five days at Keech, Lexi passed away aged just 19 days old.

Danny said: "Obviously it was an incredibly sad time, but the staff there have helped us through."

"Keech helped us create five days of good memories that would help us to overcome the pain and enable us to smile through our tears."

"That is why we are supporting Keech with this appeal, and would recommend anyone with any spare cash to make a gift and donate so others can experience the same care."

Celia Hedley, 64, is another who is heading the campaign for donations to Keech.

After experiencing the respite care Keech provided when her husband Robert was terminally ill with tumours on his brain and lung, Celia turned to the hospice for support after he passed away in 2009. She said: "My family and friends were supportive and couldn't do enough for me after Robert passed away, but after a couple of months I felt like I was boring people and couldn't openly talk about my memories with him."

"I was struggling with my grief when I heard that Keech offered a bereavement service."

"They had been fantastic throughout Robert's illness, so I spoke to one of the members of staff who gave me details of a support group that I could join."

"The group has enabled me to realise I'm not alone, and others are going through the same thing I am."

"The great thing about Keech is that they don't forget about the friends and family that are left behind and they endeavour to do all they can to support you."

"I would urge anybody to support this campaign so these services can continue."

A gift of £21 will pay for the family of a sick child with support services such as social work, bereavement support and complementary therapy.

A donation of £50 will help pay for the doctor support needed for a patient in Keech's adult in-patient unit for 24 hours.

And £122 would provide a place at the hospice and access to all specialist support for one day for a child and their family.

Social care services win national praise

CENTRAL Bedfordshire Council has been praised for the improvements made to its adult social care services since taking over from Bedfordshire County Council in 2009.

The authority's better services were recognised by the national Towards Excellence in Adult Social Care Board. The council said the rating has gone from the previous adequate score to a stable position where they are on a 'clear path towards excellence'.

The recognition comes after two years of 'hard work', since the authority implemented the first phase of its 'Adult Social Care Recovery Programme' towards the end of 2009 to tackle the safeguarding of vulnerable adults.

Call for action to tackle estate's 'drug' problem

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

A COUPLE have claimed that drug-taking and other filthy activities in their neighbourhood is making their lives a misery.

Robert Norris, 42, of Whipperley Ring, Luton, and his partner Terrence Swain, 61, claim they been in constant contact with Luton Borough Council regarding anti-social behaviour including noise and drug-taking for around two years, but have seen little done to stop the problems.

Mr Swain said: "We can constantly smell cannabis, see people regularly urinating against buildings and can't sleep due to the amount of noise late at night.

"These problems have been ongoing since 2010, when we first contacted the council, and have just got worse and worse since."

A council spokesman said: "The council and the police are working with anyone who has reported anti-social behaviour to help resolve the issue.

"We are already working with Mr Norris in connection with his allegations about another tenant. We have installed noise monitors in Mr Norris' home on several occasions but no problem has been recorded.

"The Farley Hill ward councillors hold a surgery in the Farley Hill Community Centre, in Delphine Close, every Saturday from 10am-noon specifically for local residents to come along and discuss any issues or concerns, and they have not received any recent reports about anti-social behaviour."

A spokeswoman for Bedfordshire Police said: "We will do all we can to stop anti-social behaviour.

"If anybody has information about crimes or people committing anti-social behaviour in their area, they should contact Bedfordshire Police by calling 101."

"All information is used to crack down on these issues, and together we can keep Luton a safe place to live, work and visit."

Watch out for cold-calls over insurance claims

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

TRADING standards officers are warning residents to be wary of a telephone scam after receiving complaints about cold-callers claiming consumers are entitled to a payout for missold Payment Protection Insurance (PPI).

One consumer in Luton believed they were entitled to £3,000 compensation and paid £369 using UKash vouchers to the caller to process the claim.

They only realised it was a scam when they were asked for a further £1,080 to get their money.

To make matters worse, the company is falsely claiming to be a legitimate PPI claims company based in London, which fools people into thinking the call is genuine.

Luton Borough Cllr Mohammed

Ashraf (pictured) said: "Please ignore approaches about PPI, accident compensation or loans unless you know the call is genuine."

"Never make payments up front and be careful about using any payment voucher or money transfer service unless you know precisely where the money is going."

"Consumers lose millions of pounds a year to this sort of scam, most of which are based outside the UK."

"So please protect yourself by ignoring this type of call and hanging up."

So far the council has received two complaints about this particular scam but it is one of a long line of similar rackets including fake loans, fake accident compensation and fake lottery wins and a company claiming to be working with the police and local authority to install alarm systems in properties.

All scammers use untraceable payment methods or money transfers to extract as much cash from the victim as possible before disappearing.

Robbers asked for time - then stole phone

A 20-YEAR-OLD man was attacked and robbed of his phone in broad daylight.

The victim was walking along Windsor Walk, Luton, at around 3pm on June 27 when he was approached by two men who asked for the time.

The man pulled his phone from his pocket and read the time out to the pair, but as he put it back in the robbers attacked him and took his phone.

The robbers are both described as men with an Asian appearance, between 20 and 25 years old.

5ft 11 ins tall with a muscular build. The first had short dark hair and wore a dark coloured pullover and dark jeans, while the second was wearing dark coloured clothing.

Simon completes bike challenge

A CYSTIC fibrosis sufferer has successfully completed a gruelling 1,000-mile charity bike ride in just nine days.

Prolific fundraiser Simon Stothard, of Langdale Road, Dunstable, had been expecting to complete the epic trek from John O'Groats to Lands End as part of a team.

But he was forced to undertake the journey alone - with the help of a friend who drove a van with supplies alongside him - after a mix-up with travel arrangements meant the others could not go.

The 29-year-old will today carry the Olympic Torch along New Bedford Road, Luton, at 6.40pm, an honour he has been given to celebrate his fundraising efforts.

All sponsorship money, which currently stands at around £3,000, will go to the Cystic Fibrosis Trust to help other sufferers of the disease.

The condition is the result of a defective gene which clogs the lungs and digestive system with thick mucus, resulting in chronic infections and difficulty digesting food.

Simon said: "This bike ride was the toughest thing I've ever done.

"There were times when I genuinely didn't think I had anything else to give, I was completely drained and it was quite lonely cycling alone.

"But the support of my friends and family - and in particular the support of my best friend Nick Munn, who drove the van alongside me - kept me going.

"Carrying the Olympic Torch will be a way of saying thank you to all those who have supported me along the way.

"I'm no longer nervous about holding the flame and am looking forward to the event."

If you wish to donate money to Simon visit www.justgiving.com/endtoend12 or search '2012 for Cystic Fibrosis' on Facebook.

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

A SCREWDRIVER was used as a weapon by a gang of men in a burglary during which two people were attacked.

When one of the victims answered a knock at the front door of their home in Runfold Avenue, Luton, at around 1.40am on Saturday, June 30, a group of men forced their way inside.

They attacked the two residents before leaving the scene.

The victims, both men aged 29 and 40, were both taken to Luton & Dunstable Hospital for treatment to facial bruising and cuts to their backs which were believed to have been caused with a screwdriver.

They were released and returned home shortly after.

The officer in charge of this investigation, Detective Constable Mike Robinson,

Great expectations in star-filled comedy

FILM

WHAT TO EXPECT WHEN YOU'RE EXPECTING

The Alban Arena, St Albans
Tuesday, July 17, 5pm and Wednesday, July 18, 1.30pm

WHAT To Expect When You're Expecting is a heart-warming comedy based on the New York Times bestseller of the same name.

It relays the story of five couples whose intertwined lives are turned upside down when they are faced with the daunting task of parenthood

Cameron Diaz stars as Jules, a TV fitness guru who is married to dance show star Evan (Matthew Morrison) who find that their high-paced celebrity lifestyle will not stand a chance against the demands of pregnancy.

Wendy (Elizabeth Taylor) is a baby crazy author and advocate whose body is ravaged by pregnancy hormones while her husband Gary (Ben Falcone) is in a battle not to be outdone by his competitive Alpha-Dad who is expecting twins with his much younger trophy wife.

Chris Rock, Jennifer Lopez, Chace Crawford and Anna Kendrick also star in this universal comedy that finds humour and uplift in all the unexpected trials and triumphs of welcoming a child into the world.

Tickets start from £5 and can be booked by calling the box office on 01727 844488.

Poems will put the focus on wartimes

WHAT'S ON

WAR POETRY IN THE MODERN AGE

Luton Central Library
Saturday at 2pm

LOCAL poet, Ron Wheelhouse, will be hosting a reading of his catalogue of war poetry.

A renowned Luton poet,

Wheelhouse developed a special interest in the First World War after witnessing the Last Post Ceremony during a coach holiday at the Menin Gate, Ypres, Belgium in 2002.

This led him to embark upon an in-depth study of the First World War, a historical phenomenon he feels is underrepresented in both the arts and the classroom and this was to form the foundation of his inspiration. His research led him not only to books but battlefields, and culminated in Wheelhouse penning a collection of poems focusing on 'The Great War'.

Although Wheelhouse will only be performing his war material, he has also written extensively on other family and social problems.

Entry to this event is free.

STANDING IN THE WAY OF CONTROL?

Packing a solid 280PS and featuring a bombproof feel and sharp driving dynamics, the Vauxhall Astra VXR is a car that feels as if it's been engineered with care and not just to attain a headline-grabbing power figure. It's also probably the best-looking car in its class. In other words, there's a lot to like

There's talent here. The HiPerStrut front suspension does a great job of reducing front wheel camber changes during cornering, boosting steering feel and quelling undesirable torque-steer under hard acceleration. As a result, the VXR's front end feels enormously reassuring. Even with the stability control switched fully off, the chassis doesn't feel playful and delicate in its reactions, like that of a Renault sport Megane, but it counters with a very Germanic feeling of healthy over-engineering. The three-stage FlexRide switches between 'Normal', 'Sport' and 'VXR' modes and adjusts both throttle action and damping: even the sportiest VXR mode works well on British roads. In addition to the work done by ZF Sachs on dampers, Vauxhall engineers have stiffened the standard springs by around 30 per cent and lowered the car by a further 10 millimetres all round, compared with a 1.6T Astra GTC. The ESP stability control can be switched from 'Normal' to 'Competitive' and then fully off. Unlike some rivals which feature a mimsy e-diff, the Astra gets a heavy duty mechanical multi-plate limited slip differential made by motorsport component manufacturer, Drexler. This offers great traction out of corners, where you can feel the diff dragging you to the apex under power. Delicious.

As you'd expect, the VXR is properly rapid, smashing its way to 60mph in just 5.9 seconds on the way to a 155mph maximum. It also makes quite a few odd noises, the soundtrack being a symphony of chuffs, whistles and muted roars under full power. It's not a peaky engine, with maximum torque being developed all the way from 2,450 to 5,000rpm. As such, power delivery isn't as dramatic as you might expect, but it's one of those cars that can make effortless cross country progress and is always going 15-20mph quicker than your initial estimate.

Storm brewing for UK's biggest title tussle

MIXED MARTIAL ARTS

LUTON'S Pure Force Promotions is set to host the UK's largest mixed martial arts title show ever with their World Domination II fight card next Sunday at Liquid Nightclub.

Amir Subasic, the founder of PFP and the town's Storm Gym has put together numerous championship clashes, headed by four intercontinental title show-downs featuring three hometown heroes.

The last show, earlier this year, saw duo Nigel Thomas and Dave Willmott clinch European titles for the first time and the pair return to the scene of their greatest achievement to face Romanian Golden Glory gym opponents in a bid to take home the more prestigious strap.

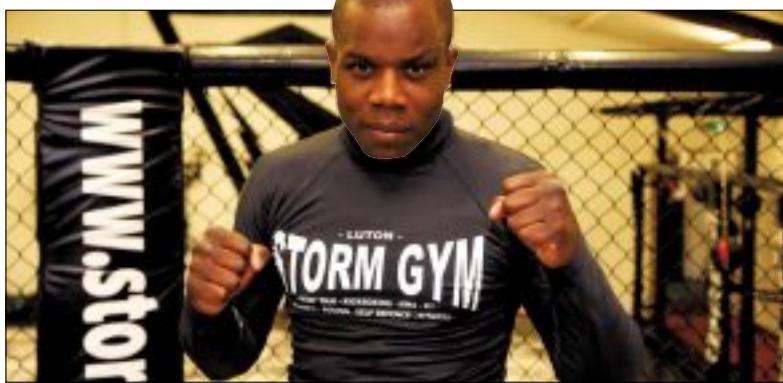

Thomas will battle Mihai Barbu for the 78.1kg kickboxing crown, while Willmott takes on Ion Pascu for the 78.1kg K1 belt. Gym-mate Paul Douglas will also fight for an intercontinental title – the 72.5kg kickboxing honour against Mikey Worscewick. There will also be one British kickboxing and two Southern Area Muay Thai crowns decided on the day, plus plenty more full contact bouts, including some MMA scraps.

"It's a good fight card," said Subasic. "It's bigger than the first World Domination show and that was the largest ever staged in the UK."

Tickets are £10 for kids (-12yrs), £15 for juniors (12-18yrs) and £25 for adults, if ordered in advance. There will be more on the doors and family discount is available. Doors open at 1pm and the first fight is at 2pm.

Call 07795153771 or 07917688660 for tickets.

GALE FORCE: Umair Masoon fires at the Storm wicket

Masoon on song as Hurricane blow away rivals

CRICKET

UMAIR Masoon made his bid for a lucrative contract to become a MCC Young Cricketer as he helped his Hurricane side beat Storm at Wardown Park in the opening match of the Wisden City Cup.

The Twenty20 competition is in its fourth season and includes teams from Middlesex, Surrey, Leicester and Bedfordshire.

The Luton competition includes three teams, with Lightning making up the trio, and all the teams will play each other twice.

The best side will travel to play the Leicester winners in the semi-final on August Bank Holiday Monday and the triumphant team will then go on to play the Wisden Cup Final at Leicestershire's Grace Road home in September.

The cup final will act as a precursor to a match between a Wisden City Cup XI and the MCC Young Cricketers, under the watchful eye of head coach Mark Alleyne. In the opening game at Luton Town & Indians Cricket Club's Wardown Park ground, left-arm spinner Masoon won the man-of-the-match award for his 1-18 and 17 not out with the bat as his Hurricane side beat Storm by two wickets, overcoming the opening total of 127-8 with three balls remaining.

Other outstanding performances were from Storm's Akash Shah (33), Sanwal Illyas (22), Ammad Saeed (3-22), Kalim Khan (3-15) and Hurricane's Hassa (22). The next match is between Hurricane and Lightning on July 20, again at Luton Town & Indians' home.

David Mercer, director of cricket at organisers Bedfordshire Cricket, said: "The Wisden City Cup is an initiative that aims to increase the popularity of cricket in inner-city communities. It is a great opportunity for the talent of Luton to show itself and to unearth more cricketers like Monty Panesar."

BEDFORDSHIRE CRICKET LEAGUE PREMIER DIVISION

CRICKET clubs will be hoping that the rain will relent and allow their sides to get today's games completed as the Bedfordshire County Cricket League Premier Division begins to take shape.

Leaders Luton Town & Indians host Henlow after getting their title push back on track last weekend after two straight defeats with a 172 run victory over Leighton Buzzard.

The Wardown Park side have already beaten today's opponents with a seven-wicket triumph earlier in the season.

Town rivals Lutonian, in third place, travel to Flitwick looking to make it five wins on the spin.

Second placed Dunstable Town have a bye week.

LUTON MIDWEEK CRICKET LEAGUE PREMIER

LUTON Haiderys beat AKCC by six wickets to remain top of the pile as they look to claim the title back from Luton Pakistanis.

In a rescheduled league programme after Tuesday's washout – which means that the League Cup semi-finals have been rearranged for Thursday – AKCC were plunged into a relegation battle as they batted first and were bowled out for 110. Haiderys – who had been due to face Luton Pakistanis in the cup last four – then knocked off the runs in the last over with Hasnain Shah hitting a quick-fire 14 to lead his team to victory.

Lions CC secured a much-needed victory as they beat title-chasing, cup semi-finalists Luton Majestics. Lions elected to bat first and Hamad Kiani (69) was in fine form, helping his team post 137 in their allotted overs.

Majestics, who must wait to face off against Luton Hawks in the cup semi-

Shah sees unbeaten Haiderys past AKCC as they continue title march

final, came into this match hoping to surprise many with their late charge for the title. They were led well by Yash's 27 and Muddasar Hussain's 31 but eventually fell short as Lions' Haseeb Khan (5-12) bowled brilliantly to leave them just short on 127.

Luton Hawks continue their good run of late as they secured another important win, and this time against champions Luton Pakistanis.

They elected to bat first and scored a modest 113-6 with Muddasar Hussain hitting an unbeaten 51 and Tasir claiming 3-21.

Pakistanis, who are drifting back from leaders Haiderys, were then skittled out for 106 as they fell short by seven runs with Mohammed Irfan doing the damage by claiming 4-30, while Naeem Ahmed also picked up 2-19.

The win lifts Hawks out of the drop zone but dents Pakistanis' chance of defending their crown.

DIVISION ONE

Luton United Stars are edging closer to the Premier Division as they continued their unbeaten run by overcoming Luton CC.

Stars batted first and managed 118-6 thanks to contributions from Ziad Mohammed (24) and Imran Aftab (29). Luton CC, who are hoping to make an instant return to the top flight, found it difficult to keep up with the score as Adrees Butt's 4-14 restricted Luton CC to just 89 but only Saeed's 28 made any real contribution for his team.

Luton Saracens registered a very comfortable victory over AKXI to go second in the table. AKXI batted first and could only manage 102 from their allotted overs with Tanveer Ahmed bowling an outstanding spell which included six wickets. Saracens then ensured they improved their net run rate as they raced along to their target thanks to Yasir Choudary smashing 51.

No result has yet come in for the match between Luton Cricketers and Kashmir Cavaliers.

DIVISION TWO

There was a run feast in the third tier as Accident Specialists produced an outstanding batting performance to overcome a massive target of 150 set by Luton Eagles.

Eagles, who were top-of-the-table, were set on their way by Rashid Abbas who cracked an unbeaten 68 and was then well supported by Khuram Ayub who hit a quick-fire 22. In reply Specialists lost early wickets but were led by a solid partnership between Naeem Aslam, who hammered 75, and Shahbaz Hussain who hit a fine unbeaten 51. Despite the win Accident Specialists remain in third as Tigers and Eagles have a superior net run rate.

Haiderys Tigers, who knew they had to secure a convincing victory to improve their net run rate, ensured they did just that as they hammered Alpha CC who batted first and could only post 78-7 off their allotted overs. Tigers then had captain Talat Malik and Tariq to thank as they blasted the bowling to all parts of the ground for 36 and 27 respectively to secure an easy seven-wicket victory to go second in the table.

Challney CC continued their poor form as they lost to The Saracens to remain bottom of Division Two and without a win. Saracens batted first and managed 115-5 off their allotted 16 overs. In reply, Challney started off brightly but fell apart as they were blown away for just 89.

Walker U-turn has Buckle's backing

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

james.cunliffe@lutononsunday.com

PAUL Buckle is unsure what sparked a change of heart in contract rebel Dan Walker but the manager is delighted to have retained a player he has high hopes for.

The 22-year-old twice snubbed new Luton Town offers and was last week put on the transfer list, but with one foot seemingly out of the Kenilworth Road exit door he this week made a last-ditch phone call to save his Hatters career and inked a new one-year contract on Thursday.

Asked what changed the mind of the former Bedford Town forward, Buckle said: "You'd have to ask Dan that. My phone rang on Wednesday night and he wanted to sign.

"I think it's a mixture of things really. He wanted to know that he was going to have a chance of being involved.

"We are running with a lot smaller squad than Luton have had for some time, so it gives him a chance.

"The atmosphere around the place and the working environment in pre-season has also impressed him."

Buckle told Luton on Sunday last month that he thought some young players were having their heads turned by agents, saying that Walker, in particular,

STAYING PUT: Dan Walker

had been dragging his heels. But the manager revealed that the striker has since taken on board a few home truths.

"I was frank and honest with him," Buckle said. "I told him the way it is and the way he should be thinking.

"At that age, it's not all about money. You've got to keep developing and you've got to find somewhere to do that. He had a long think about it and it [the deal] was on its last legs.

"I think he realised that we were going to move on with or without him, so he chose to stay and I'm pleased.

"He's looked really good in [pre-season] training."

The Hatters boss is also glad that his work with Walker thus far hasn't been in vain.

"We did develop him last season," Buckle explained, adding: "Certainly, I gave him loads of effort. I was working with him every day until four in the afternoon with the other coaches.

"When I first came to the club he was going home at one o'clock.

"Like all the younger players, he needs to put the hours in. Dan's bought into that and we are delighted to have him.

"There were clubs sniffing around and there is this loophole that makes it a risky time for clubs that have put a lot of effort into players.

"Although they can't go, because we hold their registration, it could have gone to a tribunal if he'd have gone.

"You never know what you are going to get at a tribunal, but he's fighting for us now.

"I've got high hopes for Dan Walker and the few clubs that were umming and ahing have missed out on him."

END OF THE LINE: Andy McGarry

Shock withdrawal of pace ace McGarry deals league bid blow

CRICKET

BEDFORDSHIRE suffered a major setback before the start of today's game against Northumberland at Dunstable with the sudden retirement of main strike bowler Andy McGarry, writes Lance Christopher.

An illness to his business partner means that McGarry no longer has sufficient time to commit to three-day Minor County cricket.

His decision leaves a gaping hole in the Bedfordshire bowling attack. He took 32 wickets in only four games last season and was rewarded with selection for the Unicorns – the representative side for cricketers not registered by first-class counties. Bedfordshire team manager Mike Archer said: "It's a big blow but we fully understand his decision. Obviously his business has to come first. Hopefully he will be able to think about playing cricket again when things return to normal."

In McGarry's absence, Bedfordshire have turned to veteran fast-bowler Will Sneath against Northumberland.

Ironically Sneath, who made his debut for Bedfordshire 15 years ago, had been invited to today's reunion of those who played for the county in the two MCCA Trophy finals at Lord's in the nineties.

But instead of swapping stories with Wayne Larkins, Richard Dalton and others, Sneath will be back in action on the field – weather permitting of course.

With three days out of six already lost to rain, Bedfordshire need a win to get their Championship season on track. Unfortunately the forecast is not great. Sneath for McGarry is the only change to the side which took nine points from the drawn game with Suffolk at Bury St Edmunds a couple of weeks ago.

The Bedfordshire side is: Oliver Clayson, Steve Stubbings, George Arblaster, Martin Weightman, George Thurstanse, Andy Reynoldson, Oliver Swann, Dan Bendon, Chris Esh, Colin Griggs, Will Sneath.
